Faculty of Transport and Aviation Engineering at Silesian University of Technology has a SimEasy+ vehicle driving simulator purchased together with the SCANeR Studio software from the AVSimulation group. The Faculty also has an Education Pack with SCANeR Studio software (for 10 positions + professor).

In the process of simulating road traffic and reflecting real relationships between vehicles, it is important to be able to replace virtual automatic drivers with real ones. In view of the above, the subject of the current invitation to submit offers is the following:

- Updated version of SCANeR Studio for SimEASY+
- "Multiplayer module" perpetual for SimEASY+
- Additional pack for customer Education Pack – Static

Multiplayer module should allow users in different locations to share the same scenario and run the same simulation together, each driving their own car with their own simulator. This solution could use a small web-based application to create and host the server used by the multiplayer simulation. Participants can join an open session, select a vehicle to drive, and download the scenario. Once all participants are ready, they can start the simulation in SCANeR studio and launch the new Multiplayer module to run a multiplayer simulation. We will accept only original modules compatible with SCANeR Studio software (because of already purchased hardware and software).

Based on above purposes below minimal technical requirements has been defined:
